A MAN is in a critical condition in hospital with head injuries after an incident involving a crossbow in Tarleton.

The man, who is in his 20s, was found suffering from a serious head injury on Brick Kiln Way in the village shortly after 7am on Sunday, May 15.

He was taken to the Royal Preston Hospital where his condition remains critical.

"We are not looking for anyone else in connection with the incident."

"Our thoughts remain with the man's family at this time."

VANDALS TARGET CANAL BOAT USED BY DISABLED PEOPLE

Thieves broke down door and stole cash from craft which offers cruise trips and is run by volunteers

Report by Henry James

A CANAL boat, which is operated from Parbold for people with disabilities and other special needs, had to cancel a booking after vandals forced a padlocked door on the vessel and stole cash.

The Rose of Parbold, a custom-built wide beam canal barge run by a charity and operated entirely by volunteers, was broken into last week.

It is moored at Mill Leat in Parbold, and provides day cruises on the Leeds and Liverpool canal for people with disabilities and other special needs and has been doing this for 30 years.

It had been returning to normal sailing after the last two years of Covid. This year the boat is sailing four days a week from April to October and each cruise has a volunteer crew of a skipper and three crew members.

The Rose of Parbold on a cruise on the canal, above, and right, the damage to the boat caused by the thieves.

However on Thursday, May 12 the skipper and crew for the day's cruise arrived to prepare the boat in advance of the group's arrival and found the boat had been broken into.

Denise Price, the chair of the Rose of Parbold committee, said: "Whoever had broken into the boat had been able to get onto it in spite of the security arrangements in place, and had broken open a pad-locked door to gain access to the interior.

"It was clear they had searched the interior thoroughly, opening the engine compartment and storage lockers and stole some cash."

"The cruise booked for that day had to be cancelled, leaving a disappointed group missing out on an enjoyable sail on the canal."

Emergency budget call by MP over cost of living crisis

Report by Henry James

MP Rosie Cooper has called on the government to act over the spiralling cost of living crisis with an emergency budget, as figures show the impact of soaring petrol prices on families in West Lancashire.

New analysis has revealed that families in West Lancashire and across the country will fork out an extra £10billion on petrol, compared to this time last year.

The figures come as oil and gas producers, including Shell and BP, took in billions in soaring profits.

The Chancellor Rishi Sunak made a fuel duty cut the centrepiece of his plan to tackle the cost-of-living crisis, but Labour has said that cut has been "swallowed up by the soaring cost over the year."

MP Cooper and Labour has reiterated its call on the government to bring forward an emergency budget to tackle the cost of living crisis.

West Lancashire MP Cooper said: "This is a savage extra cost for working people in West Lancashire, who are already contacting me for support, while struggling with rising household bills."

"The Conservative government needs to set out an emergency budget to tackle its cost-of-living crisis – and support Labour's call to put money back in the pockets of working people."

"Labour's plan would help households through this crisis with up to £600 cut from energy bills, funded by a one-off windfall tax on the booming profits of oil and gas producers."

"We would turbocharge our transition to clean transport so never again are the British people left so exposed to unstable foreign oil."

A Government spokesperson said: "We understand that people are struggling with rising prices, and while we can't shield everyone from the global challenges we face, we're supporting British families to navigate the months ahead with a £22 billion package of support."

"That includes saving the typical employee over £330 a year through a tax cut in July, allowing people on the Universal Credit taper rate to help people keep more of the money they earn – benefiting over a million families by around £1000 a year, and providing millions of households with up to £350 each to help with rising energy bills"

Graphic designer's huge Liverpool FC programme book nominated for award

Epic work which charts history of club from tragedies and heroics includes 6,800 images

Report by Henry James

A GRAPHIC designer from Ormskirk is one of the people behind a new book about Liverpool FC's match programmes which has been nominated for the prestigious Sports Book Awards 2022.

Andrew Cothliff's business, ABC Design and Communications was commissioned to design the book called Liverpool Football Programmes, The Definitive Collector's Guide.

The book's author, Andy Marsden, is one of the world's leading Liverpool FC matchday programme collectors.

The book has been shortlisted as one of eight nominees in the Illustrated Book of the Year category, at the Sports Book Awards 2022.

It is an epic piece of work charting the history of the club, through reproduction of the matchday programmes.

This huge coffee table book, which runs to nearly 1,000 pages, takes a journey through the post war history of the club through the matchday programmes, from the tragedies and the heroics – and the strangest season of all, in which Liverpool, reigning champions of Europe, were crowned champions of England and champions of the world.

For Andrew, a life-long Reds fan, it was a huge undertaking, with 6,800 images he designed the book during the pandemic.

Andrew said: "I was shocked when the book was nominated as one of the eight titles from throughout the world. The event is considered to be the Oscars for sports books."

"The book was originally going to be 400 pages long, but by the time we finished it had doubled to 900 pages.

"The book is one of the positive stories to come out of the pandemic. We thought a fitting way to finish the book was when Liverpool won their first top flight league title in 30 years."

Andrew has worked for a wide range of clients in the UK and overseas, including marketing agencies, trade associations, local councils, the NHS, National Trust, universities, ports, and airports.

And his design has been used by some of the world's most successful brands.

This is the first international accolade for his work.

The book is possibly the biggest LFC book ever produced, and is available from the author at www.lfcprogman.com and from bookshops.

All profits from the book are being donated to the LFC Foundation, the official charity of Liverpool FC.

Company which provides services for people with autism open store at the Concourse

A NOT-FOR-PROFIT group that provides a range of services to the autistic community is opening a store at The Concourse Centre, Skelmersdale, to raise essential funds.

The A World has agreed a lease for unit 11 and is undertaking a fit out, with the aim of opening at the end of May.

The store will sell a wide range of goods, from clothing and jewellery to kitchen ware, bric a brac and toys.

Brad Thorpe, managing director of the organisation, which is a community interest company (CIC), said the Concourse store will be its 14th to open in the north of England.

"We are thrilled that The A World UK is expanding into new areas, which will allow us the capacity to offer our services to a wider autism community in Skelmersdale and are delighted to be able to give back to the community via offering our funded family holidays to even more autistic people," he said.

"We would like to ask all of those in the community to support us where they can to donate clothes and household items. Information on our services and donations can be found on our website www.theaworlduk.com."

The CIC will welcome as many volunteers as it can to help run the store and it has also created two jobs at The Concourse.

Welcoming The A World to the shopping centre, Rob Ellis, asset manager at LCP, the national commercial property and investment company that manages the centre, said: "The organisation provides a wide range of services, so we hope it raises as much money as possible to help families and know the generous Skelmersdale community will support the new shop."

The A World's opening hours will be: Monday-Saturday 9.30am-5pm, and Sundays 10am-4pm.

Brass band helps celebrate Philip's 100th birthday

THE Red Admiral Music Academy Band visited Aranmore Park rest home in Burscough to play for a resident who loves brass bands and who has recently celebrated his 100th birthday.

Philip Whitehead was 100 on Friday, May 13 and celebrated with afternoon tea at Cedar Farm where he was a frequent visitor just down the road from where he lived in Mawdesley.

He was treated to a performance from the brass band, also from Mawdesley, the next day at Aranmore.

Brought up in Duckenfield and Blackpool, Philip saw active service throughout the WW2 North Africa campaign, landing at Salerno in Italy and finally being wounded at the battle for Monte Cassino.

After the war he worked in the family fish and chip business and as a driver of top brass for the MOD, until recently he enjoyed a long retirement in Mawdesley. He is now enjoying life at Arranmore.

Philip listens to the Red Admiral Music Academy Band.

Canal boat used for cruises by disabled people hit by vandals

"Members of the day's crew then had to inspect the damage, repair the door and make sure the boat was made a secure as possible."

"We were all shocked and saddened by this vandalism and theft, but the volunteers have worked hard to make sure that we can resume sailing quickly with no more of our customers having to be disappointed by cancellations because of it."

"The team is doing everything possible to further improve security - and we have made arrangements to ensure that no money is left on the boat in future."

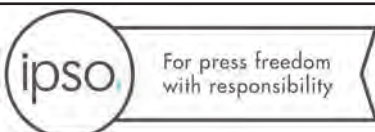

A total of 33 volunteers currently work as skippers or crew, as well as the executive committee of trustees who manage the charity.

Dozens of blades binned during knife surrender campaign

Report by Henry James

DOZENS of knives have been surrendered in a campaign to tackle crime.

Police in West Lancashire are joining other forces in the national Operation Sceptre week of intensive action to tackle knife crime.

The operation aims to target those who are carrying weapons, raise awareness of the dangers and impacts of knife crime, and engage with retailers.

Officers will visit schools to educate young people, search for knives in public places, conduct high visibility patrols, use metal detecting arches to identify people who may be carrying knives, and give advice to shops on the laws on selling knives.

Skelmersdale Police pointed out that there are permanent knife surrender bins at Tanhouse Community Centre and at the Evermoor Hub in Dugmoor, both in Skelmersdale.

The police also posted pictures of recent collections from the bins on social media.

Chief Inspector Dave Oldfield, of Lancashire Violence Reduction Network, said: "This focused week of action is about police activity against knife crime, but we also spend a lot of time engaging with young people and wider communities. We aim to educate them on the laws around carrying knives and the dangers and potential impacts of doing so."

"Knife crime impacts not only the individuals involved, but their families, friends and wider community."

"It's truly devastating when an incident occurs so I urge anyone thinking about carrying a knife to reconsider as, in a brief moment, your life can be changed forever."

Radio control car drift track opens at Concourse

A RADIO control car drift track has opened at the Concourse Centre in Skelmersdale.

Slideways RC Drift will occupy a 6,298 square foot unit in the complex after agreeing a lease with national commercial property and investment company LCP, which manages the shopping centre.

John Peter Jeffers, who owns and runs the Slideways RC Drift radio car business said there has already had an incredible response from enthusiasts.

"We've had a mix of complete beginners to advanced users, including mum, dad and children, to mum and dad coming alone and even gran and grandad coming along," he said "We are also seeing some returning users, which is always good to see. We aren't just for little kids."

The radio control drift car shop and offroad car shop sells everything that is needed to build a car and it also offers repairs and parts upgrades.

A number of tracks, including a fun track, have already been installed and a further two are being built so that customers can also use their cars in a controlled environment.

John is also designing a competition-standard drift track which can be used for more advanced drivers, local and national championships. Drift car hire is also available to use on the tracks.

"We are really focused on the community side of what we do and encourage people to become a group and support each other," he said.

"We are also very keen to encourage local young people to get involved and have already had a lot of success recently and since we started more than 14 months ago."

"This was a part of the conversation when discussing the possibility of moving into the Concourse."

"We want local youths to be involved, respect what is available and in turn hopefully become more appreciative of the Concourse and the staff."

Welcoming Slideways RC Drift to the Concourse Shopping Centre, Rob Ellis, asset manager at LCP, said: "We're pleased to have been selected as the home for this fun, new attraction, which adds to the diverse offering here."

"The Concourse is the retail focal point for the town and adding much-needed leisure facilities such as this helps bring more vibrancy."

Friends to embark on mercy mission to help Ukraine war victims

By Champion Reporter

TWO friends are urging people to support their mercy mission to help victims of the war in Ukraine.

Jenna-Rose Maldini, 29, from Southport, and Peter Hutcheon, 26, from Burscough, are planning to travel to the border of Poland and Ukraine to provide humanitarian aid for refugees fleeing the brutal conflict.

They have set up an online fundraising page as they look to raise enough money to take across as many supplies as they can to give to families who have been forced to flee their homes.

Jenna-Rose and Peter have been friends since they studied Criminology and Sociology at Edge Hill University in Ormskirk.

Jenna-Rose said: "We want to do all we can to provide humanitarian aid. They just need our help."

"We want to be able to go over there and to make a difference to families who need it."

The friends have already travelled to eastern Europe to offer them help when they went on a mercy mission in April.

Jenna-Rose said: "We headed out as independent volunteers to the Ukrainian border in Poland, we spent three days there and helped as much as we could."

"After our experience, we both decided that we wanted to go back and help even more."

"Thousands of families are crossing the border for safety to Medyka daily, with very little possessions or places to stay. They are guided to Przemyśl where a huge Tesco has been hollowed out and turned into a centre. They wait on cots while travel and accommodations are secured.

"Since I returned home I thought over all this experience and my heart is set on going back and giving all the help I can!"

"One thing I noticed the last time we were there was that we didn't see many NGOs (non governmental organisations). There were lots of volunteers there though."

"We looked to find some volunteer charities to go and support. It was so hard. There is lots of stuff that we just don't see on the news back in the UK."

"There were lots of families there that turned up and they just didn't have anything."

Moor Hall raises the bar for fine dining after brewing its own beer!

Report by Henry James

MOOR Hall, a two Michelin starred restaurant in Aughton, has partnered with an independent brewery to brew its own pale ale, proving that beer has its place in fine dining!

Collaborating to brew their own Moor Hall Pale Ale, the beer is described as being soft and juicy on the palate, with vibrant flavours of blueberry and mango, and a refreshing citrus hit. It is brewed to be enjoyed with food or simply on its own.

They teamed up with brewery Neptune, based in Maghull, which is just five miles away.

Both businesses have received awards in recognition of their commitment to quality.

Neptune has been named Merseyside Brewery of the Year 2020 by rate-beer.com, and fittingly, Moor Hall was recently awarded a Michelin Green Star in recognition of their efforts in adopting a sustainable ethos, with sourcing locality at the heart.

Head chef Mark Birchall and beverage director Ben Robinson worked closely with Neptune Brewery on recipe development and Ben even donned his waterproofs and rose with the lark to join the brew team on the beer's debut brew day.

Neptune co-owner Julie O'Grady said:

Ben Robinson, beverage director at Moor Hall Restaurant with Rooms helps with production of the Moor Hall Pale Ale

"For too long, beer has played second fiddle in terms of how it is perceived in restaurants, with much focus on the provenance of the ingredients on the plate, but not the liquid in the glass. Beer is a delicious and diverse product, that pairs beautifully with so many dishes, and can rival any wine in terms of its quality."

Moor Hall Pale Ale is available on draught in the venue's neighbourhood restaurant The Barn and in the fridges at Moor Hall's main restaurant. Mark Birchall, added: "We are extremely proud of our Moor Hall Pale Ale in collaboration with the fantastic Neptune Brewery, who are only five miles up the road from us."

"Provenance is key at Moor Hall and working with local suppliers is a huge part of what we offer here. We worked with Neptune to create a recipe we knew our guests would enjoy - it's a great beer!"

Borough council to send £150 Energy Rebate payments from this week

THE borough council has issued an update on the £150 Council Tax Energy Rebate payments and have confirmed that payments will start to be made this Friday (May 20).

They have said all necessary procedures and processing checks have now been put in place and they have now devised a schedule of payments.

The Champion had reported in April on fears raised by the political party, Our West Lancashire, that it could be June before the £150 energy rebate payment start to be paid - much later than many other councils.

A council spokesperson said: "We appreciate our customers' patience while they have been waiting for their £150 energy rebate to help with energy costs. We have been working hard to install and test new software to enable us to make payments on a large scale and to ensure the payments are secure and at low risk of fraud - this has inevitably taken some time."

The council has said Phase 1 will cover those customers in bands A to D (or Band E with a disabled band reduction) on April 1 2022, who have paid at least one instalment by direct debit for Council Tax period 2022-23, on or before May 15 this year.

Payments for Phase 1 are scheduled to be issued from May 20. The council ask that customers allow at least three to five working days for payments to show in their bank account and they wait until at least May 27 before contacting the council if their payment has not reached them.

Edge Hill worker in court for ‘minding’ wraps of cocaine

By our Court Reporter

A FINANCE assistant at Edge Hill University who turned to drugs after losing her baby has ended up in a crown court dock for minding cocaine.

Kate Baxter, from Crosby, had become a cocaine user after her personal tragedy and had agreed to mind wraps of the drug in return for £50 worth for herself.

But Baxter, who now works as a university finance assistant, was caught out after police were notified on the afternoon of June 27 last year about an apparent drug dealing transaction between her and a young lad.

Baxter had been behind the steering wheel of a Ford Mondeo and the registration plate was noted and the details passed on, said Christopher Hopkins, prosecuting.

The car was traced to her home address and they arrived there just as she was pulling up outside. Quizzed she admitted she had “stuff in her bra for her own personal use and nine wraps were found.”

In the door pocket a further 16 wraps of cocaine were found, he said.

All the drugs recovered were of high purity and had a potential street value of £1,050, said Mr Hopkins.

Baxter, 34, of De Villiers Avenue, Crosby, pleaded guilty to possessing cocaine with intent to supply on the basis she had been asked to look after it in return for £50 worth of ‘flake’ (cocaine).

Mr Hopkins told Liverpool Crown Court that there was a message on her mobile phone consistent with her basis of plea. The cocaine was “no doubt intended for street dealing but she wasn’t involved in that,” he added.

Baxter gave evidence from the witness box to the judge to confirm that she is now working as a finance assistant at Edge Hill University in Ormskirk and her employers knew she had a court hearing but not why.

She lost a baby in 2017 after which she suffered a psychotic episode and was admitted to hospital. After this she turned to drugs but has since given up. “I stopped using drugs the day I was arrested,” she said.

In 2019 she tried to commit suicide and was found by her father but she has self-referred to mental health services and her GP has put her on anti-depressants.

She said she had been in a relationship for 18 months and lives with her partner.

Carmel Wilde, defending, said that Baxter, who has no previous convictions, has stable accommodation and there is a realistic prospect of rehabilitation.

“It was a blip and she has tried to sort out the mess she got into,” said Miss Wilde.

Imposing a 20 month jail term suspended for two years Judge David Swinnerton told her, “I get the impression you are genuinely remorseful” but warned her if she ended up back in the dock she would go to prison.

“I hope you have learnt your lesson and never come back,” he told her, adding, “I treat it as a one-off which occurred at a low point in your life.”

Judge Swinnerton said, “You were not high up in the chain and were performing a very limited role on this occasion but you still involved yourself in the supply of Class A drugs and you know the sort of devastation Class A drugs causes in peoples’ lives and families and communities.

He ordered her to complete a six month drugs rehabilitation course and carry out 25 days rehabilitation activities and 100 hours unpaid work.

First Cuckoo Arrives

The sound of a cuckoo is probably the most recognised bird song in the country and it has been a delight to hear one calling over our reed bed in the last few days.

While us humans love hearing the two syllable call, the sound strikes fear into the smaller birds nesting on our reserve. This is because the cuckoo is a brood parasite, which tricks other birds into raising its young. At Martin Mere the most frequent bird to be conned by the cuckoo is the reed warbler.

The reed warblers and other birds are well aware of the cuckoo’s parasitic habits and, if you see a cuckoo flying over the reserve, you will probably see it being attacked by smaller birds trying to drive it away. However, when a cuckoo finds a suitable nest it will lay an egg alongside the host species’ eggs. Once the cuckoo chick hatches out, it then goes about emptying the nest of the host species eggs to ensure that it has the sole attention of its unwitting host parents.

With only one mouth being fed by the host parents, the cuckoo soon outgrows the nest, as it is twice as big as the parents themselves. However, the cuckoo will still be fed outside of the nest for quite some time. A great example of this happened at Martin Mere in 2020, when a young cuckoo took up residence for almost a week outside our Gordon Taylor Hide. This provided some great photo opportunities for many visitors, as a pair of reed warblers shuttled to and fro to feed their over-sized, imposter offspring.

Once fledged, the cuckoo will start its migration south. A British Trust for Ornithology tracking project has seen cuckoos fitted with satellite tags for the last ten years and this has shown that British-born cuckoos head for an area around the Congo Basin.

At the end of April, the project recorded PJ, a cuckoo fitted with a satellite tag back in 2016, returning to his breeding grounds in Suffolk for his seventh summer. PJ had started his journey north from the Congo in late February, made a non-stop Sahara crossing on the 4th April and arrived in Spain a few days later. By the 24 April PJ was back on his territory in Suffolk.

Our Martin Mere cuckoos will have made similar journeys, such is the attraction to have your kids raised by somebody else.

Boxing club fights back from twin blows of fire and pandemic

Birch Green ABC to hold an evening of 15 bouts featuring ten local fighters

Report by Henry James

BIRCH Green Amateur Boxing Club has overcome the blows of a major fire at its premises and the effects of the pandemic and it is set to hold an evening of boxing.

The event will take place at the Upholland Labour Club on Thursday, May 26 with 15 bouts, including ten boxers from the local area.

Doors will open at 7pm with the boxing starting at 7.30pm.

Colin Day, a coach and secretary of the boxing club, said: "Through hard work and determination of our coaching staff, we intend to put on our first boxing show on since recovering from the twin blows of the fire and the pandemic.

"The club was burnt down quite a few years ago and it has taken us a really long time to get back to where we were before the fire.

"After thinking we had got over the worst thing that could happen to us, the Covid pandemic then hit knocking us back for another two years, so it's great to hold a boxing show again.

"The show will consist of 15 bouts, and will include 10 boxers who are local to the area. They will be from the ages of 10-22. It would be great to see the town come out and support our home grown boxers and see how we have progressed from nearly being closed down after the fire.

"We also want to thank our sponsors, without their help we would of struggled to have survived.

"The sponsors are: Skem Express Cars 50005; S&J Windows; Senors food truck; Floor depot NW; Callaborate living; Pampered & Polished; Myers Roofing; Team Drainage; and the O'Brien family."

Doors will be open at 7pm and boxing starts at 7.30pm. Admission will be £10 and £5 for Under 16s. Under 16s must be accompanied by an adult.

Learning Stars students with Stocks Hall residents with their quilts

Art students enjoy their close-knit bond with care home!

LEARNING Stars art students have been busy working on a set of exciting textile sensory lap quilts for some of the residents in Stocks Hall Residential Care Home in Ormskirk.

Learning Stars is an established non profit organisation community group dedicated to providing educational inclusive workshops to learning disabled and neurodivergent adults.

The arts project, led by artist/art tutor Julie James-Turner, received funding from Tesco's Bags for Life.

Students worked for many hours on the different panels to create interesting colourful, tactile, multi-sensory lap quilts, that some of the residents at Stocks Hall can use just like fiddle muffs.

They can help to relieve restlessness and stress, improve circulation and provide comfort.

People urged to hand over any illegal firearms

LANCASHIRE Police are urging members of the public to hand over illegally held weapons and ammunition as part of a national two-week firearms surrender.

The firearms surrender started on May 12 and will be held until May 29.

Firearms legislation is regularly updated, and officers are asking people to surrender unlawfully held or unwanted guns and ammunition to help avoid them getting into the wrong hands.

Many firearms may be held in innocence and ignorance of their illegality or may be overlooked or forgotten in people's homes.

The surrender gives holders the chance to dispose of the firearm or ammunition safely by taking it to a local police station and handing it in.

During the surrender period, those handing over firearms will not face prosecution for the illegal possession at the point of surrender and they can remain anonymous.

However, the history of each live firearm will be checked for evidence of its use in crime.

Chief Supt Richard Robertshaw from Lancashire Police said: "In particular we're appealing for people with so called legacy items – inherited or antique weapons or ammunition lying in a cupboard or attic to hand them in. Changes to legislation means these are now illegal to hold without a licence."

Firearms and ammunition can be surrendered at any designated police station but anyone handing in a firearm, or a stun gun, during the firearms surrender is advised to check the opening times of their station.

CCG never gave us chance to see if we met Covid vaccination site criteria

I refer to the article Clinic's offer of help for use as Covid vaccination centre "was ignored by local health authority."

I was quite taken back by the response from the NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group.

In my letters to the powers that be I offered to make our centre available at evenings and weekends to help those who are working who may not be able to get in during the week.

The CCG said: "Selecting sites for vaccinations requires complex specifications to be met in relation to the building's facilities, accessibility, suitability, availability, size, security and contractual requirements as well as infection control standards."

They never gave us the chance to see if we met such criteria.

Our centre was once a doctor's surgery, so there is no problem with any of the things they ask for.

I could easily have got any equipment needed and besides the CCG could bring that along with them.

Accessibility is no problem; we are right in the middle of Ormskirk with free parking for users of the centre.

With regards to suitability - this was once a doctor's surgery so that cannot be an issue.

In terms of availability, in addition to what I said above I could easily make one or two rooms available Monday to Friday 9am to 7pm for the elderly and vulnerable people of Ormskirk.

It takes 15 minutes to do a vaccination. Allowing one hour for lunch then that's two rooms, being used for nine hours, Monday to Friday at four people per room per hour.

That's 360 people per week knocking a huge dent in those who had to be seen.

To give an example, I have a relative who is over 70 years old.

It was ridiculous that I had to take this person to Maghull to have the vaccination done.

To get mine done I had to go to Skelmersdale three times - OK I am a fit able-bodied person so that's not a problem - but what about those who are not so mobile or agile?

On my books, I have an anaesthetist and a nurse who has 35 years' experience.

Both could easily have done the injections safely so staffing would not have been a problem.

In conclusion, the issue here is that the CCG never replied to my letters nor did they ever come round to view the premises to see if we met their criteria.

If we didn't then I would have made the necessary changes.

As stated previously, ultimately it was the people of Ormskirk who suffered.

Feel Good Centre

Mallards may have been spotted near the canal

I just read a letter from Brian Holland from Bootle head-lined 'What Has Happened to all the Mallards?'

I was in Halsall on Monday and there were about 15 of them (someone passing on a barge said they were mallards anyway!)

Just thought he may like to know.

They were by the next bridge along after the Saracens Bridge (towards Scarisbrick, not Lydiate).

Is there a photographic competition for 'the most selfish example of parking this week'?

If there is, here is an entry.

All those who stood for election deserve praise

Many congratulations to all who were elected to our councils.

May they govern, with a sense of cooperation, and consideration for all opinions, for the best interests of all the electorate, notwithstanding some differences of opinion!

Also, I feel anybody who did put their name on the ballot paper needs praise, at a time of trolling and unfettered abuse from so many directions.

If we don't value our democratic process, and those who strive to achieve it, we will slide into government by regime, as history, even recent history as shown.

We have so many thoughtful, considerate people in this country, let us hope they can be in the majority.

Julie Myers,
Ormskirk

People are getting turned off by politics

I was councillor for Tanhouse, Skelmersdale up until the recent local elections.

During my three years I dealt with hundreds of constituent issues, including council home problems, potholes, dog fouling, and anti-social behaviour.

It's been a pleasure to serve my community.

The latest election in Tanhouse had a 22% turnout.

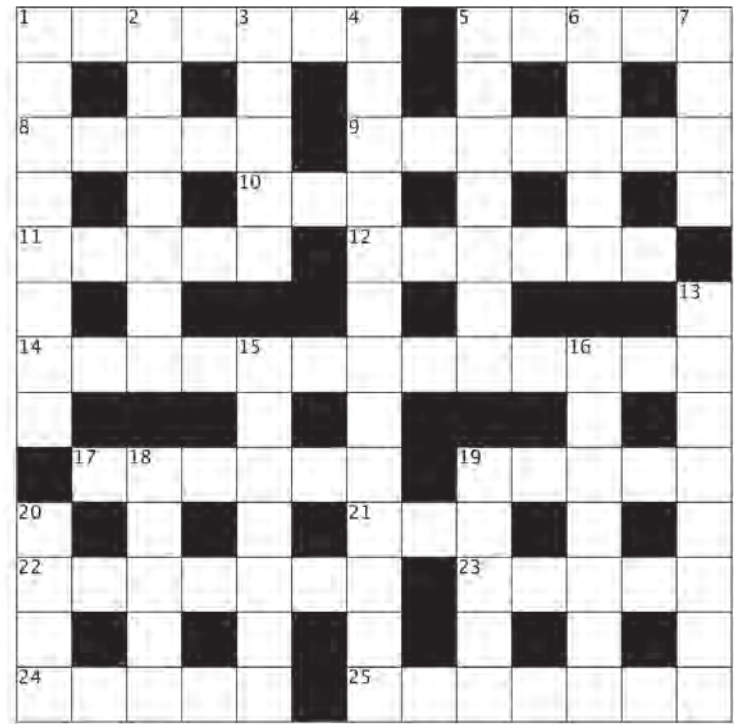

This shows that people are disillusioned and turned off by politics.

So, look out Labour, with your complacency and lack of effort, an active Independent candidate could inspire the 78% and take Tanhouse and other Skelmersdale seats.

Ron Cooper,

Hospice given £2k donation from law firm

A LAW firm has donated more than £12,000 to local and national charities, including Queenscourt Hospice.

Fletchers Solicitors, based in Southport, has given the money to Queenscourt Hospice, Claire House Hospice, Alder Hey Children's Charity, Joining Jack and Cancer Research UK.

The money was raised throughout the year by Fletchers staff giving directly from their salaries, as well as fundraising events.

Fletchers donated £2,000 to Queenscourt Hospice, a charity that provides support for the people of West Lancashire, Southport and Formby.

Peter Haden, CEO of Fletchers, said: "We are delighted to be able to support such worthwhile charities. It is really important to us to support both local and national charities that make such an impact in helping people and funding research."

"At Fletchers we strongly believe in the need to be a responsible business that gives back to the communities that we represent."

Linda Chicken, fundraising assistant, said: "Queenscourt would like to thank everyone at Fletchers for their support and generosity."

"We are honoured that the staff

at Fletchers chose to fundraise for our hospice. With much of our planned fundraising being put on hold due to Government guidelines, it has been a difficult time to raise much-needed income and to engage with our wider community.

"The fantastic donation from Fletchers will help to keep Queenscourt in service, so that #teamqueenscourt can continue providing exceptional compassionate care for local people across West Lancashire, Southport and Formby, when they need us the most."

My Kitchen is amazing!! I can't believe the timescale, so quick, and the promise of all debris removal was fulfilled!! The fitters cleaned up after themselves each evening and were very respectful towards my elderly father who lives with me. Anne in the Hunts Cross shop helped me choose appliances and the colour scheme and I'm so glad I took her advice! Well done to all the staff at Capital.

Skem's star striker Howard set to join Warrington Town

Last season's top goalscorer says 'I will always be a Skem fan' after firing them to promotion

SKELMERSDALE United's stop goalscorer from last season, Mikey Howard, will join NPL Premier side Warrington Town, writes Key Panther.

The striker found the net 33 times last season, the most out of any player in the division, as he helped fire Skem to promotion.

One his biggest contributions was when he scored four in the play-off clash with Cinderford Town to seal promotion for his side.

Manager Paul McNally said: "Before the season started, I had one player on our radar that I desperately wanted to sign and that was Mikey. I was more than delighted when we finally got him."

"I said at the beginning of the season I don't know how long we will have him but I had confidence that he would come up with the goods."

"To give credit to him there have been a number of teams wanting to prise him away but he has stuck with us, mainly due to his enjoyment at the club and the fact he was scoring goals."

Early career

Mikey started his career at Preston North End and he was also on the books of Cork City and Morecambe where he scored in an EFL Cup game against Wolverhampton Wanderers.

McNally continued: "A lot of young lads who are released from league clubs' academies fall by the wayside. It takes a strong character to go down the leagues and work their way back up and Michael is one of those characters."

"He is joining Warrington Town, two divisions above and I'm sure he will impress and go further up the leagues with the right guidance. Mikey leaves with our blessings and our best wishes going forward in his career."

Mikey said: "I will always be a Skem fan. A massive thanks to Paul McNally for bringing me in, having faith in me and allowing me game time and a platform for me to enjoy my football again.

Mikey Howard

"To play in all 52 games and score 33 goals is something I have not achieved before and I could not have done it without a great set of lads around me."

Mikey went on to thank the supporters: "The fans have been brilliant and have been behind me from the very first day, I wish them all well in the future and hope the club can build on the success we have had this season."

Fans invited to club's awards ceremony

SKELMERSDALE United fans are invited to the club's presentation evening.

It will be held at JMO Sports Park on Saturday, May 21 at 7.30pm.

A spokesperson said: "We would like to welcome you all to join us in celebrating a highly successful season.

"Free admittance, with food available plus a chance to chat with players and management

"There will be an awards ceremony with the winner of the coveted 'Supporters Player of the Year' announced on the evening. Let's all celebrate the end of the season in style."

Barnes and Shehzad share nine wickets between them as Ormskirk beat Rainhill

JAMIE Barnes (5-54) and Zahir Shehzad (4-35) took nine wickets between them as Ormskirk beat Rainhill by 37 runs on Saturday.

Ormskirk batted first and opener Alex Rankin top scored with 59 to help his side reach 181 all out in 51.3 overs. Captain Gary Knight scored a useful 33, while John Armstrong hit 33.

Indian left-arm spinner Imliwati Lemtur was the star bowler for Rainhill taking 6-59.

Rainhill opener Tyler McGladdery scored 47 before being bowled by Jamie Barnes.

Rainhill looked set for victory on 122-2 but Barnes and Shehzad then cleaned up the rest of the batters as the innings finished on 144 all out in 46.3 overs.

Elsewhere in the Liverpool Competition Premier Division, Northern beat Wigan by 82 runs after scoring 225-7 declared.

Top of the table Wallasey beat Birkenhead Park by 122 runs after scoring 243-4 declared.

Southport & Birkdale drew with Formby, Leigh drew with Orrell RT and Newton-le-Willows drew with New Brighton.

Joshua, 6, wins Royal Academy of Art contest

Josh with his winning artwork

Report by Henry James

A TALENTED youngster from Burscough Village Primary School pupil has been named one of the winners in the Royal Academy of Art Competition.

A group of 14 pupils from the school had their work entered into this year's Royal Academy of Arts Competition and last week it was revealed Joshua, aged, 6, had his artwork chosen.

This is considered to be a huge achievement as there were more than 21,000 entries!

The competition is in its fourth year and is open to all UK children aged between four to 19.

The winning artworks will now be displayed online and on-site at the Royal Academy of Arts.

Anna Smith, the school's headteacher, said: "We are delighted that Joshua's artwork has been selected by the Royal Academy of Art.

"This is just the icing on the cake for our fabulous artwork this year. The children and staff are thoroughly enjoying all their art lessons. We must thank Louise Curran, Art consultant, for her guidance and inspirational professional development for staff.

"Joshua will have his artwork on display both on the website and in the Royal Academy of Arts Gallery in London!

"We are really proud of Joshua, what a fantastic achievement and opportunity at such a young age. Well done!"

Joshua and his family have been invited down to London later this year for the opening night of the gallery.

DEATHS

Our Mum

You had to leave but we were unable to say goodbye,

But Dad's told us not to worry, you will always be close by. He says you are the breeze in the trees, the big bright sun in the sky,

You are the moonlight at night, showing the darkness a little light.

Dad also says you are there when we have tears in our eyes, because there are no forever goodbyes.

And that all we have to do is remember and we will feel her nearby.

Our Mum was funny, loving, and her boys were her world.

We love and miss you so much Mum, it really hurts.

The love and pain that we feel are two of the same, and we are reminded of this every time we say your name.

Dad tells us the pain we are feeling wouldn't and shouldn't go away, but we will just learn to live with it a little better as time passes day-by-day.

Our hearts are smashed to pieces Mum, we just want you to know,

And all we can hope for in the future is to come to terms on why you had to go.

Lots of love
Luke and Nicholas
Deegan

The end of an era for Vauxhall

AUF wiedersehen, Insignia. Opel's outside lane chariot has been given a stay of execution on the continent, but here in the UK, Vauxhall's confirmed that it's pulled the plug.

If you've got one on order there's no need to worry because it'll still fulfil existing orders, but no more deposits are being taken, and production of the right-hand-drive models is due to be phased out later this year, and the model's been quietly dropped from its website.

Vauxhall's said that the decision's "in line with UK market trends", which is pretty much what Citroën came up with a few weeks ago when it was curtains for its C4 Space Tourer, and not a million miles off from what Ford 'fessed up' to when it finally confirmed it was phasing out the Mondeo. In Layman's English, traditional family wagons are out because everyone's buying crossovers instead.

You will, of course, be able to order the Grandland, which is roughly the same price as the Insignia was, but is better looking and roomier, or if you insist on your next car not looking like everyone else's, Vauxhall can also flog you the new Astra Sports Tourer, so I suspect not a single soul in the market for a suburban workhorse will sigh that the Insignia's gone.

Which is a shame, because it means that Vauxhall has ended a long line of family favourites that stretches back all the way to the 1930s. Sure, not one of you had a Vectra on your bedroom wall when you were growing up but I bet someone in the family had a Cavalier at some point, possibly assigned to them by a fleet manager who had to decide whether they'd done well enough at work to merit ordering the L rather than the base model. Back in the Fifties the original Victor was a gamechanger – yes, I know that they had an appetite for rusting, but in a world of genteel Morris Oxfords and Austin Cambridges, the Chevy-esque chrome and fins made motorists sit up and take note.

Or, if you didn't grow up with Cliff Richard and The Shadows, take a moment to consider the Cavalier MkII. For a stretch in the early Eighties, when buyers mourned the Cortina's demise and thought the Sierra looked a bit too radical, the Vauxhall actually outsold the Ford. Then there's the Insignia itself – it may have had the dubious honour of being Alan Partridge's most recent set of wheels, but Norfolk's best-known radio personality knows a thing or two about cars. And the Insignia, despite being out of step with the times, was a darned good one.

The good news is that the Insignia will be back at some point as – shock, horror – a crossover with all-electric propulsion, but for now, it's gone the way of Honda's Accord, Nissan's Primera, Renault's Laguna, Toyota's Avensis and, in the not-too-distant future, Ford's Mondeo. There are still plenty of what the trade calls D-Segment cars out there – take a bow, Mazda6 and Skoda Superb – but I suspect the number of people test-driving them isn't huge.

Now, where did I put that Qashqai brochure?
